Alba (Scotland): Past and present

State of Gàidhlig in 1891:

Gàidhlig was surprisingly strong in this part of Gallaibh (Caithness). Over two thirds of the usually resident population spoke the “Highland” language with a remarkable proportion of young people able to converse in the traditional tongue. The strongest community in this district was the crofting hamlet of Beinn a'Cheilt in the hinterland of the fishing village of Latharan. 77.8 % of all residents were Gàidhlig-speaking.

The area can rightfully be considered as a major stronghold of the language in the “Lowland” county during this period.

Area description:

The fishing village of Latharan (Latheron) and the two neighbouring crofting hamlets of Latharan Iarach (Upper Latheron) and Beinn a'Cheilt are object of this study. These communities are situated in the south-western corner of the county of Gallaibh (Caithness).

Main economic factors were fishing and crofting in 1891.

Age profile: Share of population speaking (1) Gàidhlig, (2) Gàidhlig & English, or (3) no Gàidhlig at all

Background of Gàidhlig (Scottish Gaelic) Local Profiles:

The 1891 census was the first such enumeration exercise with an unequivocal language question. After more than 100 years the original census forms are publicly available for detailed analysis. During research concerned with the “Gàidhlig (Scottish Gaelic) Local Studies” a vast number of such local statistics have been gathered about the Gàidhlig speaking population of Scotland in that year. As many of these results could not be included in the reports these concise fact-sheets are a welcome way to publish some of the “local gems”. Area: Latharan (Latheron): Latharan, Latharan Iarach & Beinn a'Cheilt

Place of birth and Gàidhlig speaking:

The vast majority of locally born residents spoke Gàidhlig. On the other hand, those born outside the Gaidhealtachd scarcely spoke the traditional language.

Notes:

¹ Born either in Latheron or in the parishes of Kildonan (Sutherland), Halkirk, Watten and Wick (all Caithness).

² Born in other parishes of Scotland with more than 50 % Gàidhlig speakers in the 1891 census.

Speakers according to place of birth (1) nearby¹
(2) in remaining *Gaidhealtachd*², or (3) elsewhere

Remarks:

1. In original census report terms, the district had a population of 198 persons of all ages. 129 enumerated inhabitants spoke “Gaelic and English”. This led to an “official” share of Gàidhlig speakers of 65.2 %. The figure was therefore an under-estimate of 6.3 % compared with the more realistic figures considering only the usually resident population.
2. A large proportion of Gàidhlig-speakers was born in the county of Gallaibh (Caithness). This underlines the fact that the language was not alien in an area which many characterize as a “Lowland” county today.
